DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-13 are presented for examination.
2. The examiner requests, in response to this Office action, any reference(s) known to qualify as prior art under 35 U.S.C. sections 102 or 103 with respect to the instant claims. That is, any prior art similar to the instant claimed invention that could reasonably be used in a 102/103 rejection. This request does not require applicant to perform a search. This request is not intended to interfere with or go beyond that required under 37 C.F.R. 1.56 or 1.105. This request may be fulfilled simply by asking the attorney(s) of record handling prosecution and the inventor(s)/assignee for references qualifying as prior art. A simple statement that the query has been made and no prior art found is sufficient to fulfill the request. Otherwise, along with a 102/103 submission a discussion of why the reference(s) qualifies as prior art with respect to the instant claims is requested. A response to this inquiry is greatly appreciated.

The examiner also requests, in response to this Office action, support be shown for language added to the claims on amendment. That is, indicate support for newly added claim language by specifically pointing to page(s) and line no(s). in the specification and/or drawing figure(s). This will assist the examiner in prosecuting the application.

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. § 103 (a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 C.F.R. § 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of potential 35 U.S.C. § 102(f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a).

4. Claims 1-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kazunori (JP 03-038687) or the admitted prior art, each taken separately, in view of Morimoto et al. (EP 0793166) or Ichiro (JP 10-021068), each taken separately.

Kazunori teaches the claimed “projector” as projector 1 shown in figure 3. The claimed “internal storage device” corresponds to memory within module 3. The “memory controller” corresponds to circuitry including element 2. The claimed “mobile memory” corresponds to IC memory card 7. However, Kazunori does not discuss a control program in memory card 7 to be used in place of a control program within the projector module.

The admitted prior art discussed on pages 5 and 6 teaches a conventional projector module 30 shown in figure 2 and a general purpose computer module 20. The circuitry appears to be prior art based on applicant's disclosure. However, the admitted prior art does not discuss a control program in pc card 41 to be used in place of a control program within module 20.

Morimoto teaches the claimed "mobile memory" as external storage device 3. The claimed "second control system stored in the mobile memory" corresponds to a program stored in external storage 3 (fig. 3). The program stored in flash memory 41 (claimed "internal storage device") is replaced with the program stored in storage 3 if the program version is higher in external storage 3. The version upgrade/change capability provides for the best performance of the overall system. Likewise, Ichiro teaches a program in RAM 7 to be updated by a new program in memory card 9 (fig. 2).

Because updating an existing program with a new program stored in a memory card enables upgrades in processing performance, it would have been obvious to use the program version upgrade schemes of Morimoto or Ichiro, each taken separately, in the projection system of Kazunori or the admitted prior art, each taken separately. Therefore, the claimed invention would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made.

Official notice is taken of the prior art teaching any claim feature not specifically discussed above. That is, any prior art (including that of record) teaching the more well known claim features commonly found in the dependent claims. The claim features, while part of the invention, appear to be well known and their relevance not essential to the main invention found in the independent claim(s). Thus, a detailed discussion of the well known claim features is not warranted at this time. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to combine the primary references with the officially taken prior art given the state of the art at the time the well known claim features were invented.
